PREFACE.

On many occasions we have been asked, "How many birds are there in this country," or "how many species of a certain genus". The answers have not always been easy.

On going into the matter it occurred to us that a Check List of the Birds of Uganda and East Africa would be a great help to those making a study of, or collecting birds in this country.

With the literature at our disposal it was soon obvious that a list compiled in this country must of necessity be incomplete and contain a certain number of doubtful species, the verification of which would mean endless research.

It must be understood therefor that the list given is purely provisional and is submitted in the hope that it may be found of some use to those interested in the Ornithology of the two Protectorates.

There are no books dealing entirely with the birds of the two countries and we have had to rely, in the main, on information gathered from Reichenow's Vogel Afrikas, and Shelley's "Birds of Africa," the latter far from complete.

Other papers and publications have been consulted such as "The Ibis," Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections, Proceedings of the United States Natural History Museum, etc. etc.

The arrangement followed is that of Shelley in his "Birds of Africa," Vol. I, while in many cases the nomenclature is that of Reichenow.

The list deals with those species found in the area between 4° north lat. and the present East Africa—German East Africa border, bounded on the west by the Uganda-Congo border and the Western shore of Victoria Nyanza, and on the east by the Indian Ocean. [Somaliland excepted.]

Owing to official duties it was found very difficult to correct proofs accurately, and as the work has been in the hands of the Printers for almost a year, many of the more recently described species have been omitted. Corrections and additions will be found in the Appendix.

The Authors trust that this attempt to bring together in one volume all the names of the hitherto recognised species or subspecies of birds to be found in the two Protectorates, will induce some one, more able, to publish a more complete work, giving not only the names but also descriptions and habits of every species.

Our thanks are due to Sir Frederick Jackson, for kind encouragement while the work was in process of compilation and with him, also to Major Meinertzhagen and A. B. Percival Esq., for financial aid towards the cost of production.
