

EGGS FROM EAST AFRICA IN THE COLLECTION OF THE WESTERN FOUNDATION OF VETEBRATE ZOOLOGY, CALIFORNIA

H.A. Britton

In February 1978, as the Nest Record Scheme Organizer of the East Africa Natural History Society, I received photocopies of all East African egg set data cards in the collection of the Western Foundation of Vetebrate Zoology, California, U.S.A. These data, comprising over 1200 clutches, have been mentioned in my last two annual reports (Scopus 1: 132-141, Scopus 2: 126-132).

Data are included for 168 species. Those from Tanzania or Uganda are indicated by using 'T' or 'U' in parentheses; all others are from Kenya. Most eggs were collected by Dr V.G.L. van Someren (VS) or Dr M.P.L. Fogden (F), and the comparatively few collected by others are indicated as miscellaneous (M).

Amongst these data there were various clutches already documented by Brown & Britton (1980), being already published in earlier definitive literature or otherwise made available for their study. These duplicated data, collected by van Someren, Sir Frederick J. Jackson and Capt. C.R.S. Pitman, have been excluded here, so that all data included may be regarded as additional to those already documented elsewhere. In presenting these data, the format is essentially that of my annual reports, with the emphasis on egg-laying dates rather than clutch size. For all records marked VS or M the date given is the date of collection, as the state of incubation was not noted; whereas for records marked F the month given is for egg-laying, computed with regard to the state of incubation.
