

St. Louis, Mo., Jan 21, 1890.

Dear Mr. Watson:

Thank you very much for the hint concerning the Ball Herbarium. While it is not in the line that I have planned for final development (N. O. botany), I fully appreciate its value, and if it can be obtained I shall certainly be glad to get it, and can at once put it temporarily in the fireproof building that we have no Benhardt and Engelmann herbaria in. It will be but a short time, I feel certain, before we have a large and really fine fireproof building for our collections and the library, we must soon form.

Acting on your suggestion I have written Sir Joseph Hooker, making formal application for the Ball Herbarium. I had seen the "Nature" note before, but it had not occurred to me that it would be anything but impertinence for anyone to ask for it. However, I judge from your letter that you have pretty direct knowledge that applications will not be viewed in that light. If you happen to have

Trelease, William. 1890. "Trelease, William Jan. 21, 1890 [to S. Watson]." Asa Gray correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/225452>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/253306>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Arcadia 19th Century Collections Digitization/Harvard Library

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The Library considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection

License: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/>

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.