RAILWAY STATION
— CROFTON, S.E.R. —

Nor 27. 76.

My dear Gray,

Many thanks for your pleasant letter, & for the correction of my stupid blunder.
I hope that you will have received by this time ~~the sheets~~ a nearly complete set of sheets, but in case they should have failed, I send another set with the exception of the four or five last pages & title page which will come very soon).

I shall be delighted to send you sheets in advance of the Orchid book, & have written for them today.
Only yesterday I discovered that I had overlooked one of your papers on Platanthera, from which I could have extracted two or three good facts, & this has vexed me. I find it very difficult to keep references distinct for various subjects.

Ever & more sincerely

Charles Darwin
