My dear Sir,

Herewith I send you a specimen of Prunus which I have not been able to identify, and which at any rate is out of the usual range here. The plants grow along the edge of an extensive wood lot of first-growth hard wood, and remote from any house. They were of all sizes from a few feet high (4- to 6) to trees at least 30 and six inches in diameter. On some of the trees the flowers were of a delicate but decided yellowish or creamish tint that was noticeable even from a distance of many feet. Will you kindly identify the specimen for me?

Yours respectfully,
Chas. S. Davis.
