

Columbus 26th June 1883.

Dr. J. S. Watson

My dear Sir.

The offer made in your kind letter of reviewing part of the Inst. of the Manual of the moths imposes upon yourself such an amount of hard work and such a great loss of time that I scarcely dare to accept it, though I greatly feel the ~~need~~ <sup>want</sup> of your assistance. Could you not enter into some kind of arrangement and accept some compensation, if not for the value of your work, at least for the loss of your time? —

The manuscript of the Sphagnaceæ was written long time ago and has been more than two years with Mr. James who had the work of Brathwaite <sup>the next</sup> I recd. however when it was returned to me long time after the death of Mr. James and merely modified some of the quotations from that same work of Brathwaite which had been lent to me by Mr. James. I admit the fitness of your observation in regard to the authorities of species or varieties from a discussion on the subject with Prof. Gray who had the trouble to put me right on the subject,

I have reviewed and modified all the quotations from the beginning of the Hymaea and believe that you will not find any more errors of the same nature. I have also generally followed your mode of arranging the quotations in the book and reduced their number perhaps too much. The synonymy is of little use for a Manual. I have therefore generally quoted the author of the species and the work where the species has been illustrated for the best. Brashwaight's work is certainly very good. But for the figures and the clearness of the descriptions, that of Schimper, Trofimov is better, to my opinion. This one however does not represent as many species as Brashwaight does. I have also received lately, (two weeks ago) from Lindberg, his Atlas Brashwaighti, the synonymy occupies a great deal of place. There must be also some excuse in my favor for incorrect quotations in the deficiency of my botanical library. When Tellwart was living, I had his books at my disposal. Since the Tellwart library was transferred to Harvard, I have had to rely on what I have and that is not much. Thus, for example for the var. of ~~the~~ Hypnoides of Sphagnum cuspidatum I did not quote in Muller's S. Hypnoides. A Braun in Bob. Best etc. For scientific details of this kind, it is certain that the long synonymy of Brashwaight and Lindb. has great value. And my remarks too are not made in a sense of objection to what you write me; for I have many times felt the insufficiency of some of my quotations, and the necessity of correcting them if possible. To the monos for example, described by Dr. S. J. S. in Proceed. of the Am. Acad. of Arts & Sci. I have to quote from a separate copy of the memoir, but I do not know the volume, as I have not the Proceedings. This deficiency is lamentable, indeed. I shall be greatly obliged to you for correcting any traces of it. And please be certain of this: that I shall consider as a kind even of yours any kind of critical remarks or of corrections that you may find advisable to make on my work.

Very respectfully and thankfully yours
I. Degener

Lesquereux, Léo. 1883. "Lesquereux, Léo June 26, 1883 [to S. Watson]." Leo Lesquereux letters to Asa Gray

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/226837>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/257792>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Arcadia 19th Century Collections Digitization/Harvard Library

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The Library considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection

License: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/>

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.