Dear Mr. Watson:

I am not getting well to work at Kew, and I am finding many of the originals of carices which I have long needed to see. I shall want to publish some of my notes as soon as I return, especially as I hope to visit the important herbaria on the continent. These notes will be too long for Bot. Gaz. and of such a nature as to unfit them for it. I should like to publish them in the Amer. Academy, if a second publication is not taking too many liberties for a stranger. The notes should be published before the new Manual comes out.

Professor Oliver is placing everything at my disposal. I am also making the acquaintance of C. B. Clarke, who is preparing Cyperaceae for De Candolle.

Yours Sincerely,
T. H. Bailey
