

Cambridge

Jan. 23.

Dear Mr. Watson,

The algae of the Galapagos must be interesting. I have a few specimens, mostly Corallines which are fine species. The fungi I know nothing about but there ought to be good things.

Dr. Bauer I suppose could collect the larger things without any special knowledge but the best things could only be got by an expert.

Am I to understand that Bauer wishes to take orders for Cryptogams? If so, I could afford to pay for some. Or does he wish to take a botanist with him
for the sum of $500?

I do not know of
anyone who could go
with him nor could I pay $500 although I might pay part of the expenses of a botanist.

Yours truly,
W. E. Harlow.
