

May 39

P.S. I have just received your note & the welcome from Ara Gray - How can you imagine there can be a doubt about the reply? Of course I shall be exceedingly glad to have it if it is good - I wish to see articles both pro & against. May I have it clearly understood that the Review is a 'Champ like' -

Paying for it however is what I unfortunately do not see my way to at present - Until

The circulation number

On 7 hundred we shall hardly be able to pay any & even then I am afraid not much — But get the article if you can & if you find it is the most rational advocate you can find so long as he argues the question scientifically & isn't abusive (beyond reason) I am quite sure Hook will agree with me as the propriety of inserting it My desire to have an <sup>anti-</sup>~~anti-~~ Darwinian article — is not so much because I want to see you criticised & because I want the world to understand that it is not a party journal I return G. J. <sup>nap</sup> <sup>note</sup> Will he write for us?

Darwin, Charles. 1855. "Darwin, Charles undated postscript [1860]." Charles Darwin letters to Asa Gray
