

Cambridge, Mass. Sept. 12, 1841.
my dear Prof. Oliver

We are here in great anxiety, having heard, through the prints of Sir Williams death, but not a word yet from Kerr or any one in England. That, <sup>however</sup>, might readily be. But the cause of our present intense anxiety is that a letter from Reichenbach at Hamburgh - almost a month old - mentioned that dear Dr. Storker was ill!!

Dear me! Mail after mail has come in, but not a word; and - as you must have hurried back to Kerr upon this sad state of things, I appeal to you for the intelligence we so much want. Tell us, if you can, that Dr. Storker is out of danger - and tell us of dear good Sir William, Even the Gardener's Chronicle since the 15th August has failed or delayed to come to us. Our love and sympathy to the Stokes - and to arrange, in some way, to give us constant news, by a line, however brief - and you will confer the highest of favours upon Yours sincerely

A. Gray

Gray, Asa. 1865. "Gray, Asa Sept. 12, 1865 [to Daniel Oliver]." Asa Gray correspondence : letters from Asa Gray to various individuals

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/225451>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/262420>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Arcadia 19th Century Collections Digitization/Harvard Library

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The Library considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection

License: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/>

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.