Wednesday -

My dear Husband,

Here I am, safely arrived last night at 12 o'clock - And I cannot stop to tell you much of any story now, as I write to go by today's mail; so that you may send that half sheet of journal & those two little letters by steamer this week, for I find there is one - I must finish journal later when I can write more at leisure -

Many thanks for the letters, received today - The Hookers are certainly very kind - Pray remember her one gratefully to them -

We had a rough time crossing, & I was pretty sick - Today we have been driving out - And seen a good many sights in buildings & places -

I feel not quite so bright today, but hope to be nicely tomorrow -

Very affectionately
Your Jane -

Dear Sue. Here is the last advice!

If I get any thing more by the morning mail to-day I will add to this. But I am confident (on the authority of the Times) that there is ^{no} mail this week: the Times says there is. So this may lie a week at Liverpool. As soon as I got back from London, Monday evening, when I left Jane with Storm - I found a line from the Hookers insisting on my taking up my abode with them while Jane is away. - So here I am (at West Park) day & night. - my bedroom next door to the study - so that I just step from one to the other.
The Hookers are extremely kind. I think Jane will have a nice time in Paris. I quite compliment myself on arranging this trip for her, while the Lovells & Dr. P. are at Paris.

Many thanks for the kind messages to me from all. I am all but straight again. My side nearly well. - no pain or soreness, except on a sudden twist or so. Yours affectionately Elizabeth.
