

ividly before me, the warning given me ^{by my Dr} ~~me~~ ^{Dr} thus I had computed my six sets of figures - The Dr said I had "overdrawn my account," referring to nerves - that I must not attempt such work. in my old age &c, so my hope was, that you would know of some one, who would be able to earn a little money, and who was capable of doing the work accurately - I am quite sure that there are such people, if I could find them -

NORTHAMPTON, MASS.

Dear Mr. Deane -

This afternoon, I met Miss Gantier on the bridge, and we had quite a little talk about you - and other things - It was very pleasant, and almost made me feel as if I had seen you.
What a good evening it was,
when you came over - only not long enough!

I found Mrs. Post's two very large packages of plants, which she has pursued, to take to Robert College - to add to my set of forms, which I gave to Dr. Post. They ^(the Post) will all go to Cruzpa, as soon as possible and want to have the plants, as a nucleus for the herbarium - In a moment of weakness - owing to our friendship I told him I would look them over, and name what I could - I am sure now, that I made a mistake - for I am really not strong enough to undertake it - I get altogether his nervous. Now do not imagine I am going to borrow your sick leave - but what I want to ask, is this - Are there Mr. people who for a consideration, would do it? You would be sure to know - and I will gladly pay a reasonable sum, if you will recommend the right place.

I shall try opening one of the two large packages, and glancing at them, with the hope that perhaps I may be able to do some of them - But I shall

Just as those dear people, Dr. & Mrs. Goodale, give them by love. With the hope that they are both better than when I last heard -

With all the good wishes and happy memories - I am -

Sincerely yours,

Emily Hitchcock Terry -

Prayer - and marked a few of my favorite passages. I mean the little poems - Some were others, perhaps equal favorites, but I did not want to mark any more - But good night - I have just set my clock an hour ahead - So it seems as if it was very late.
So I am like this changing the time - and I see no need of it - If you want to get up earlier, why isn't it just as easy to do so in the good old way? And what do you think of the suggestion that the year be divided into 13 months instead of 12?

It seems pretty bare - as well as unnecessary - to me

This is Sunday now - and I will not sit up to finish this letter - I do not have much courage now - a - day - and writing letters is not as easy as it once was -
We are having some good old days - I like all but the light wind - It is rarely too cold for me - I am a true New Englander in that respect.

Adieu my dear Mr. Deane, that you were not too tired after our pleasant Evening together.
I should not forgive myself if it hurt you - I trust you are well now - I shall look for a word from you about some time to name all these plants - My best remembrances to Miss Brown - and when
