

4111 Baltimore Avenue, Philadelphia.
April 26, 1926.

My dear Mr. Deane,

Philip and I are grateful to you for your note of sympathy with us in our loss. We had known that another stroke might come at almost any time and complete the destruction begun five and a half years ago, but when it did come we were not ready for it and have felt the blow fully, I think.

I think you are right in feeling that it was a mercy to her, a relief that we should in no way begrudge her after her brave effort for so long to regain her powers.

We find ourselves strangely idle and the place very quiet. I think it may be long before it seems again as tho' it belonged in our lives.

Philip and I join in thanking you for your kind words and wish to send you our affectionate greetings.

Very sincerely yours,
Rodney H. Tule

True, Rodney H. 1926. "True, Rodney Howard Apr. 26, 1926." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/252841>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/270618>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.