Jan. 5, 1907.

Dear Mr. Collins,

I was slow to get your letter for, not having received your till, I feared that you might have caught the grippe in Cambridge as I have had to myself. On Saturday I was attacked and was shut up several days. Mr. Seymour has had grippe and my wife is now in bed with it, Robinson also returned from N. Y. with a week ago.

No need of looking at the Clock Mosses until you have plenty of time. In regard to the Melburn Linnæum, now that you mention
L. arcticum, I recall that I did have something from Melburn which I thought might be that species but was not certain, I do not at the moment know whether what I am thinking of was the plant you examined or another but will look it up. In haste. W. G. Farrow,

Farlow, W. G. 1907. "Farlow, William G. Jan. 5, 1907." James Franklin Collins correspondence
