June 14, 1908.

Dear Mr. Collins,

I am much obliged for your letter. I have taken the package of the Laxoni out of the case where the Laxon duplicates are kept and put it into the cover of S. Laxoni in Mr.
Farlow where is the specimen of that species you sent. It is more likely to attract attention there ^{now} as to be mislabeled than if kept in the duplicate case.

Of the two wrappers of the set, I sent collection, me is named June 29, 1891 and the other June 29, 1892, the latter probably a slip of the pen. It is perhaps possible to explain the disagreement as to dates 16.9.1891 and June 29, 1891 by supposing that either Warnstorf or Tabor in copying the date changed the month and day to the abominable form $\frac{x}{x}$ and that June was given as $\frac{6}{19}$ and the 2 dropped out by mistake and by two or three copyings the date got quite changed.

Yours, very truly,
W. G. Tabor
