

78 Orange Street,
Brooklyn, N.Y.

My dear Mr Collins.

Feb. 7th 1901

You may have concluded there was no charge on your check - not having from me - and I think you are entitled. There was a charge on two bounced at some time & I regretted to find out the particular ones so paid for my rubber - the not heavy bill - I truly think yours was not charged for.
Yes I saw the Plant World article you mention & also the Grant - enjoyed it - When I got very low in my spirits I try & think up some points at least in favor of the Bryologist - & while the Jan. number has mistakes enough to make me want to give up entirely - I mean to give myself one some chomce & see if April will turn out better.

If only every body dont get & stay ill too long." I trust you got the books &c. We are having some cold & having mathus which ought to help people to feel well.

Very cordially yours Amelia D. Miller Smith.

Smith, Annie Morrill. 1901. "Smith, Annie M. Feb. 7, 1901." James Franklin Collins correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/258527>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/275858>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.