

EDWARD B. CHAMBERLAIN
18 WEST 89TH STREET
NEW YORK CITY

December 20/22

Dear Collins:-

Your card has just come in. I needn't write you how sorry I feel for all of you, and all the family. Know tho' the outcome may have been expected, the shock, the sense of loss is none the less sad. For you gather the change may come to which he had looked forward, for I think that he has feared the day long since sight & hearing were so feeble. But such length was not due to any lack of care and attention. You certainly were for him eyes and ears and more all through these last years, and I doubt if any of us quite realize how much you've done, so quietly do you work.

I'm very sorry that work now prevents me from coming to Providence. Tomorrow is the next to the final day of school, with rehearsals for a little closing entertainment on Friday, and it's day will be much broken up by extra work. Otherwise I should certainly do what I could to attend. I thought much of your father.

Please extend my sympathies to all the others in the family. Under the circumstances, and of the usual Christmas expressions would be meaningless. best I know you & understand the necessity of my failing you.

Sincerely,

Chas. Eastman

Chamberlain, Edward B. 1922. "Chamberlain, Edward Blanchard Dec. 20, 1922." Edward Blanchard Chamberlain letters to James Franklin Collins

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/258598>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/278132>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.