

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION
UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM
WASHINGTON, D. C.

August 24, 1923.

Mr. Oakes Ames,
North Easton, Massachusetts.

Dear Mr. Ames:

Under separate cover we are forwarding five specimens of orchids included in a large collection of plants just received from Dr. Calderón. We should greatly appreciate having your identifications of them when convenient. The specimens, of course, are not to be returned to us.

At least two of the specimen, I note, represent new records for Salvador, and probably two genera not known previously from that country. Dr. Calderón has not been in any good orchid country recently, but he has been doing wonderfully well at collecting trees, of which he has gotten many interesting species and some new ones.

Sincerely yours,

Paul C. Standley
