Dear Doctor,

I got some good hepatics at Campobello but saved only a few
mosses. The mosses
at first sight did not seem interesting
but I would have saved more if I had had a chance. I have to say I had never collected Thuidium

abeetrum before
although the books
say it is a common species. I got a very little bit of Grinnia maritima,
There is an abundance of Uloteris phyllanthi (sterile of course)
and as it is a
maritime species

I thought you might like a specimen.

Yours, truly,

W. C. Fernald
