Dear Dr Kennedy:

You can imagine how pleased I was to get your addition to Parker's letter, and your own pleasant letter, on my arrival here Thursday morning. It was accompanied by a further invitation from Sargent to meet a number of gentlemen he was to lunch yesterday, and I thought many times before deciding that I could not go on to Boston, especially as a further postponement of the sailing of my vessel was learned of this afternoon. But my wife and her sister and my two little boys are with me, and it did not seem quite the right thing to leave them here and run off for a good time since I could add to their enjoyment of their stay here, - and with the babies you know I could not very well give them the trip to Boston & back on top of the 36 hours from St. Louis. So I had to let Sargent know that I could not join his party, & now I must tell you that I shall have to postpone seeing you and Mrs. Kennedy till some other time, much as I should enjoy it now.

My wife and Grace join me in congratulating you on your safe return from so long a journey, and in kindest regards to Mrs. Kennedy and yourself. Yours truly, T. M. C.
