Dear Mr Deane

"Time drags" not, I Assure you, but I cannot resist the temptation to write you a line we arrived home last evening, after a pleasant voyage.
Friday morning we spent with Dr Farlow in his house and laboratory, chatting very pleasantly and looking over his drawings and specimens. Mrs Farlow we found all that Mrs Deane and yourself had described her. We shall never forget the pleasant evening spent at your house. It was so full of good things, that one could wish it had been drawn out for the sake of a more leisurely enjoyment and less hurrying.
We shall hope that when you come to see us at Snydeside we shall more leisurely in our Staid Country.

I am glad you enjoyed the Review. I shall send you a copy when I think there is any thing to interest you. The N.B. Scholar is too busy a man to write so that everything falls upon me in the writing as well as the managing.
Mrs Hay joins me in kindest regards and the most pleasant remembrances of Mrs Deane and yourself

Thank you

Hay, G. U. 1903. "Hay, George Upham Nov. 15, 1903." Walter Deane correspondence
