

Washington DC.
May 22/98

My dear Deane:

That Oak was not sent out from our Department.

Quercus pyramidalis is an English
Oak. And is nearly a garden species.

It is generally considered a variety of Q. Robur. It is a handsome tree in cultivation resembling the Lombardy Poplar.

Canby was down yesterday and spent the day with me.

The Dep. will probably want me to go early in June.

Respectfully
J. W. Rose
