

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
DIVISION OF BOTANY,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

April 10, 1896.

Mr. Walter Deane,
Cambridge, Mass:

My dear Deane:-

Your postal card of April 2d. was duly received.
Verbascum phlomoides is firmly established at Dickey's Mills, Ky.,
and threatens to prove a very troublesome weed.

Hymenocallis occidentalis is the plant referred to in Gray's Manual, and grows naturally about Litchfield, Kentucky.

Yours very truly,

Assistant Botanist.
