

Providence, Sep 15, 1900

My Dear Deane,

Would you believe it! It was really thought necessary yesterday to get up a Faculty meeting - and some thirty un-blurred professors assembled. They thought we ought to begin. Why? Does not the world and the China question - and Bryan flow on forever? And then the Pres made us a little speech and told us what good hope he thought us; how helpful he were to him - and how he hoped our virtue would hold out for another year.

Varina Committee reported on walking. Others were appointed to do ditto. Wanderers from Gossat's strolling were welcomed back. The kiss of peace passed around, but the Iwidget, I never did like promiscuous passing - see the men pretended to be glad to see all the others. They cannot find your uncle. It is deemed necessary that some good young men and women should put themselves under our charge, and the fun of it is their parents are persuaded we are right. So, everywhere there is a sign of awakening life at Brant. Private tracting men are stirring for pay; seminaries express men dumping trucks in the wrong places, and an endless variety of skaters seeking registration, the poor Registration - the best of fellows show signs of unconscious cerebration, the steamerapses into his native Nova Scotia; the saints are "flowing beer" see this time the musquitos get it worse work. Consider, it they perceive the calendar sneezing of the human youth, until what they observe spread the osagified and aged; Collins and I were destined to remain all day in our boat to see students. I have got six mortal hoos and no one cash. Then certain & wages in this part of me known to the personable as entertained me to go home. Well, well, Victoria, state of mind, Experts give me a week to recover or die, until this last week, I remain as ever Your friend tho die Ernest the dear Emily Bulley.

Bailey, William Whitman. 1900. "Bailey, William Whitman Sep. 15, 1900." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/164555>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/300704>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.