

BROWN UNIVERSITY
PROVIDENCE

April 7, 1910

My dear Deane,

Our dear Margaret, who expected to return to New York last Sunday is still detained here, on strict milk diet - and looks very thin & poor. She has, as was feared, an ulcer of the stomach & we feel she ought to give up for the rest of the year. She may have to get, we have surely had a hospital in our home with Mrs. Timmons seriously ill (though the old man is better) - a sick maid, three doctors and an alternation of nurses, which has been the only hell we - though Mrs. Bailey has kept up her duties with Christ & all, & myself have been more than com-quely wretched - but last night, as I was on the programme for a program, attended the very jolly dinner of the R.D. H. Club,

The Dean, Mr. Garland, Prof. Musin & others, spoke & the evening was most delightful & pleasant. As usual, however, I at last broke down while Musin was speaking & had to put on home, Cowey was a noisy, sleepless, painful night, Mrs. and

Yours truly
Bailey

Did Prof. Foster think that we (the women) that he can secure an old letter of Dr. Fung's in his correspondence in which he spoke of the discovery of certain phenomena of pathology, the blood, the (blood) that these men found of it!

Bailey, William Whitman. 1910. "Bailey, William Whitman Apr. 7, 1910." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/164555>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/300859>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.