

O. A. WEAVER
11 WELLS AVENUE
EAST HARTFORD, CONN.

Reed
Dec. 29

December 25, 1924

Dear Mr. Deane:-

It is downright lonely of you to give me the copy of Wickham.
Between botanists, there could hardly be a better proof of friendship; and I shall value the book accordingly, even as the chief among my books. Of course I want your name in it - that will be a large part of its value. I should also like you to write in it, if you have not done so already, a little history of the book. - Thank you with all my heart.

Of nothing happier, I expect to go

YRENTARW A. 9
JUREVA S. 11
EAST HARFORD, CONN.

With thanks again and love from us both

Yours as always

Arthur Weatherly

to Cambridge on January 2nd arriving in time for the Club meeting and if you like and have nothing better on hand to take you to dinner somewhere before it. Then we can decide about strengthening the case of the Nichamps - though I imagine that under the look is actually in danger I should prefer to keep it as it is. We can also talk about something else which I can tell you now though I couldn't say well before. We just now left the little picture as now you unframed because as soon as we what you might want to do with it. But if you would like it framed, I will get it done for you while I am in Cambridge

Weatherby, Charles Alfred. 1924. "Weatherby, Charles Alfred Dec. 25, 1924."
Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/163304>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/304130>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.