

Manufacturing Pharmacists.

Sloyd Brothers,

Wholesale Druggists,

Court & Plum Streets.

Cincinnati, O.

Mch 19 1895-

Dear Alane

yes I returned to you from Florida a couple of weeks ago and have been very busy since straightening up accumulated work and sorting out the specimens collected. I got about 50 species of fungi mostly on old logs and have just gotten them sorted out and numbered for Prof. Morgan to whom I shall send them for names. I have made so little progress with the study I could probably decipher only a few of them myself. I am more interested than ever at the prospect of work and knowledge I shall be able to gain of the fungi field. Last Sunday I made a trip to the woods and collected a puff ball which I had little trouble to determine as Lycoperdon pyriforme.

So you see I am making a little progress. The study requires more or less microscopic examination and I purchased today a camera for making microscopic photos.

Manufacturing Pharmacists.

Lloyd Brothers,

Wholesale Druggists,

Court & Plum Streets.

Cincinnati, O.

189

It is a very solid and nicely adjusted instrument and cost me only $40 though I believe the original cost was over a hundred. I bought it of a gentleman who had it made to order, and who sold it because it had been replaced in his work by an electric light-camera.
This was lamp light-light and does good work, and will answer every purpose for me.

I suppose you have read the remarks on Nomenclature in the preface to Rands Flora of "Mount-Desert-Islands" Perhaps I have not given the subject enough reading, or thought - to express my opinion on it - but - I admire very much Mr Rands stand.
I cannot - reconcile my self to the "topsy turvy" changes so much in vogue now.
In the "List of Pteridophyta and Spermatophyta" just issued by the Committee many of our familiar plants appear under names that would not be recognized by their most intimate friends. There may be necessity for such wholesale changes but I can not feel it! It seems to me it

Manufacturing Pharmacists.

Sloyd Brothers,

Wholesale Druggists,

Court & Plum Streets.

Cincinnati, O.

189

only adds to confusion.
 And we think a writer in a recent Journal proposes to change such old familiar names as Compositaceæ, Leguminosaceæ Cruciferae &c - because they don't comply to a new uniform law that he proposes. As Runk says after a plant has been known for a hundred years by a name it acquires a

"property right" in that name and should not we rather of it - to accour to some "theory" of nomenclature.

Our British friends seem to feel likewise and I note the Jan. Journal of Botany reproduces Raoul's Remarks in full expressing their approval that "they share in many respects a reaction towards a samer principle of nomenclature" It may not be policy for me to thus express myself without knowing how you stand. Perhaps you had your finger in the Rochester code. If so I nimbly apologize, and Manufacturing Pharmacists.

Lloyd Brothers,

Wholesale Druggists,

Court & Plum Streets.

Cincinnati, O.

STEREOTYPE LETTERS.

Trust you will write me your favoritess
At any rate let me have your views on it.
Next summer if you run across my little puff balls (not the common large species) or blasters by their name please for me.
No preparation is necessary but to put them aside to dry. your friend G. S. Lloyd 189

Lloyd, C. G. 1895. "Lloyd, Curtis Gates Mar. 19, 1895." Curtis Gates Lloyd letters to Walter Deane

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/159647>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/304857>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.