

449 McClellan Ave,
Detroit, Michigan,
June 16, 1913.

Dear Mr. Deane: - I am sending you a photo taken since I sent you the last.

Also I
want to thank you for your recent photo which I am very glad to get here.

I do not know whether I will ever get my herbarium in condition again. My time is limited and I prefer to spend it in the field.
Winters I spend in studying what I collected in the summer. If I ever do get at it again & I know I will find a large percentage of your plants amongst the others.

I leave here on the 25th for New York but can't say now whether I will get any further east or not.

Sincerely yours
Oliver A. Farwell
