

out of his hands. I shall send on the drawings done by Hochstein, to you - or to Wilkes. Is it a fact that Hochstein charges more than Prague does, for soft ex. drawings?

You scolded me in one of your letters for not sending you proofs of H. Whiff.
- & also for not visiting our stores.
- but I urged the printers on both these points, without effect.

It is those "protected bank notes" that Hosford extracted the ink from so readily.
He operated on one of the first specimens printed by Rawdon &c. Ask him to take the green out of the enclosed specimen, & leave the black. I don't say that he cannot do it, but if ~~he~~ he can, I will send him others to try on.

New York. July 30th 1857.

My dear Doctor - Many thanks for your letter - & for the opportunity of reading Engelmann's I had concluded to let Cuvier stand till E. returned - but I looked into many of them - & if I am not greatly mistaken there are quite too many species. Diffrerence is an unreliable character - & the scales vary not a little. I see that E. has made some n. species, & reduced a few to ^{corollaris} n.
I sent a number of Perkeles, plenty to Roscher - & to Mr. Scheer a full set as far as printed at the time. I suppose that Engelmann will find Mr. Scheer - who is a well known banker in London. I had nothing but proofs from ~~Captain~~ Ackerman, & parted with nearly all that were sent to me. Of course I am speaking of the plates engraved by Verelle for Whipple's Lactaceæ. These are 26 in number. I ordered no extra copies

- but Ackerman, who retains the plates, says he will strike off copies from them for Dr. E. if he wishes them. The printing for the government is all done by transfers.

I have not yet received all my plates for the extra copies of H. Whipple - but I am promised the remainder very soon. The letter press is ready in Washington - as I am advised by the printer. I repeatedly asked the forms of the Office not to trim the edges.
I also requested Mr. Seaman to be sure that they were not cut, so that I have done my part in this matter - very likely, however, they have neglected my request - for they get a good price for what is cut off!

It is strange that De Caiman should complain of me, when I find it so difficult to get an answer to my letters.
I cannot find out what has become of the engraved plates, although I gave the most particular directions how they should be sent. I shall write again by the next steamer.

Wilkes has acted in ^{his} usual manner regarding those drawings of Hockett's when he pays this bill. If you wish to pay for other drawings as fast as they are delivered, I will get others done - but not bill them - On the man provide a competent draughts-man for me, & make a bargain with him. I do hope that the business of the Expl. Expt'd will be taken entirely So Hooker won't come out! If he only knew how trifling a thing it is to cross the ocean in one of our noble steamers. He would not hesitate to let us have the pleasure of seeing him on this side the water. Neither is Sir

R. Murchison coming! I saw a letter from Lady Franklin stating that his physician has forbidden him to undertake the voyage. I am afraid we shall have a poor representation of European science at the Montreal meeting.

= You have probably received the H. Braud from Thunber. What is the price of my copy?

= I have the following items marked on a slip. - & intended to write about them long ago.

Bentham says that Zelackea is not sufficiently distinct from Trichostema!

What is Fendlera rhynchelypoides of Standl (Gram. p. 420 = 979 Fendler)? I have not the plant. Can you spare me a spikelet or two?

Is not Aster Bigelowii a large form of Machaeranthera asteroides?

I can hardly make up my mind to attend the Montreal meeting, for I have little heart to go into a crowd. There are a few friends whom I would be glad to meet there - but I cannot bear to think of the different circumstances under which I attended the meeting at Providence. Will the Cambridge men go? I suppose Henry & Bache will not be absent.

I have written to Engelm. & directed my letter to the care of Hooker.
(paid) - He will probably be in England long enough to receive it -

Much love to your good Jane.
Yours & J. Torrey
